

Audit-study evidence of name-based hiring discrimination

Seven cross-national audit studies in Western labour markets, 2004–2023. Log x-scale.

Dashed line: parity (1.0). Point estimates from each paper's primary reported finding; error-bar widths are approximate where CIs are not explicitly tabulated in the source.

* Ramos 2021: ratio computed from a 6 percentage-point callback gap; Spanish baseline ~20–23% (estimated from Thijssen 2022 meta-analysis).

Wilson & Caliskan (2024) LLM audit uses a different metric (pairwise preference ratio) and is discussed in the paper's text rather than plotted on this axis.

Three further studies (Quillian & Lee 2023; Lippens 2023; Fernández-Reino 2023) are cited in the paper but report no specific ratio and are not plotted.